ENGINEERING

THE UNIVERSITY of ADELAIDE

Come and find out what it really means to be an engineer

A variety of projects will be on display at the 17th annual honours project exhibition. Each exhibit represents a culmination of a full year's work by our students and reflects the diverse opportunities available in the field of engineering.

A highlight in the calendar year – the event attracts wide media attention and allows all members of the public to engage with final year students to share their experiences.

We particularly encourage high school students and teachers to visit from across the state. Students can interact and learn about the projects – plus have the chance to win an ipod.
