Joint with Burton Engineering Society

Institute of Explosive Engineers
Presented by Dave Welch FIExpE

<https://iexpe.org/>

Dave spent over 20 years in the Royal Navy, 12 of which were involved with Mine Warfare, Ordnance Disposal and the Bomb Disposal team based in Portsmouth. Since leaving the navy in 2005, Dave has established a commercial Hazardous Materials Disposal business which has destroyed millions of items of ordnance. His company also delivers explosives training to the Military and Police.

Dave has been a member of the Institute of Explosives Engineers since 2008 and became its president in 2016 serving for 5 years.

Dave will talk about his work supporting Police and other emergency services. His involvement with the Gas and Hazardous Operations Support Team (GHOST) which provides specialist/technical services in response to incidents. These include acetylene cylinder fires, HAZMAT incidents, Ordnance finds and search tasks.
