

YOUR IMechE

The Institution of Mechanical Engineers (IMechE) is running a presentation followed by a question and answer session. The aim of the session is to re-focus the organisation in WA to provide services tailored to members and widen its appeal to those considering membership.

The presentation will be given by Jade Abbott who is responsible for supporting engineers and graduates through the professional registration process globally. Following the presentation Jade and local members will be available for questions and feedback.

Why join?

- We are dedicated to the needs of Mechanical Engineers.
- We are an international organisation with representation in 140 countries.
- The cost of maintaining Chartered status is 20% less than local equivalents.

How do I apply?

- Admission to the IMechE is a streamlined process. If you have the necessary skills and experience the path for elevation to Chartered status is easy and straightforward.

What do I get for my membership?

- Benefit from an internationally recognised qualification
- Be accepted as a professional and competent engineer
- Improve your long-term earning potential
- Access to a world class engineering library of key databases, texts and journals.
